MSc. Digital Marketing

As you would expect, throughout your course there will be a healthy amount of coursework for you to complete and exams, group work and presentations so that we, and you, can see just how far you are progressing.

LEARNING AND TEACHING STRATEGY

The teaching, learning and assessment strategy for this course incorporates diverse thinking into the curriculum by bringing in case studies of local and global companies, as well as live client projects, and ensuring that the examples used are relatable by students from different cultural backgrounds. The teaching and learning aspects are designed to be student-centric and encourage students' active engagement in form of class attendance, class discussion and participation. The rationale is to enhance students' learning and understanding of the subjects as well as encourage them to become independent learners and critical thinkers. Each student will be allocated an academic personal tutor, who will provide support or guidance.

Students will experience a variety of teaching and learning activities relevant to the digital marketing modules studied. The learning and teaching activities will take place in workshops which allow students to participate fully in discussions. Students may be asked to work in small groups or pairs and will be required to research and present findings to the rest of the class. Students will be provided reading list and/or exercises to read and practice in their own time.

ASSESSMENT STRATEGY

The University and the course adopt the 'assessment for learning' approach to assessment. This approach also emphasises links to real life business situations in assessments, offering real-time solutions whenever possible, and supporting students in classes throughout the module to develop the pieces of assessments that they are required to submit for both formative and summative assessments.

Students' progress in each individual module will be examined by at least one and a maximum of three summative assessments. A range of different types of assessments will be used throughout the course to reflect the learning outcomes in each module and to assist in developing a range of skills – subject-based, cognitive, transferrable and lifelong skills. The information relating to the assessments for each module will be identified in the module study guide at the beginning of each term. Some assessments may require students to work individually or in groups and can include types of assessments such as reports, case study analysis, simulations, presentations, strategic digital marketing plans, digital audits etc. Students will be provided with formative feedback for the summative assessments.
